

For more information, please contact the Department of Archaeology & Historic Preservation at 360/586-3065 or visit www.dahp.wa.gov.

Here a Barn... There a Barn... Everywhere a Heritage Barn

My Shed Barn is painted red because it's the longest lasting paint color!

The doors on our English Barn are on the long or "eave" side.

You can call our barn either a Bow Truss or a Gothic Arch Barn!

Check out the vertical board and batten siding on our Gambrel Barn!

The farmer threshes wheat in our English Barn!

The split roof makes this a Western Barn!

Our Round Barn is a rare find in Washington!

Dutch Barns are the most common type in the state!

This is the hayloft of my Dutch Barn!

This is the back shed extension of our Dutch Barn.

The cupolas on my Gambrel Barn help with ventilation!

Many dairy barns are Bow Truss Barns!

Washington State Historic Preservation Month, May 2007

Row 1 (top): Kittitas County, Whitman County, Waukesha County, Spokane County, Whitman County. Row 2 (center): Grays Harbor County, Kittitas County, Whitman County. Row 3: (bottom) Kittitas County, Clark County, King County, Asotin County.

Poster designed by Moon Duval and Michael Roberts, Department of Archaeology and Historic Preservation. Additional photography courtesy of Eugenia Woo and...

